

ETHOS newsletter

April 2026

Letter From the Lab

Did you ever do show and tell as a kid? At school, for friends? There's a certain kind of sharing that feels emblematic of adolescence - spilling over yourself with unabashed enthusiasm, guided by the logics of association and wonder rather than algorithm and preference, the taking turns, things overlapping, getting lost in each other's tangential routes - "look at this!!" We wanted this month's newsletter to reflect that somehow, so - in the spirit of messy curiosity - below is a little offering of images & fragments from different recent events; things we did and made and want to share!

upcoming events

encoding secrets @ETHOS LAB

A digital embroidery workshop where we will explore themes of safekeeping and secrets through poems and textiles, engaging an encoding/occluding tool developed by lab technician Luis! Sign up required.

13.00-15.00, OPEN TO ALL

28/5

ETHOS writing retreat

A chance to gather and write with and alongside one another.

Sidste Mole, LAB MEMBERS ONLY

1/6

ETHOS summer party

Drinks, cake, games, sun (?). See out the semester and welcome the summer with us, out in the green.

16.00-18.00, OPEN TO ALL

community bulletin board

Wanted to share this inspiring project, about how a town turned off AI for 24hrs and created their own answers (and questions about environmental costs of technology!) <https://www.quili.ai>

write to ethos@itu.dk to submit to the community bulletin board

Book of the month is Forgive Us Our Trespases, a reader (including essays, poems, artistic contributions, as well as a sermon) exploring radical & liberatory practices of trespassing: crossing boundaries of currency, governance, religion, spirituality, language, and AI. *`◇
